

THE 2021 IMISON AWARD

Applications are now open for the 2021 Imison Award, for audio drama scripts by a writer new to the medium which were broadcast or made available online between 1 October 2019 and 31 October 2020.

The Imison Award is presented annually to the best audio drama script by a writer new to the medium and which, in the opinion of the judges, is the best of those submitted. The award perpetuates the memory of Richard Imison, acknowledging the encouragement and friendship he gave to writers in general, and to radio dramatists in particular.

The award is administered and judged by the Society of Authors and we are grateful to the Peggy Ramsay Foundation for generously funding the £3,000 prize.

GUIDELINES AND APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Eligibility

Any audio drama first broadcast or made available online within the UK by a UK based producer during the period 1 October 2019 - 31 October 2020 by a writer or writers new to audio drama is eligible. The work must be an original piece for audio, and it must be the first audio drama by the writer(s) that has been broadcast. Standalone plays can be of any length but when submitting episodes from a series or serial we will require consecutive episodes (including the first episode) to make up at least 45 minutes or the complete series if a lesser duration. The judges reserve the right to call in the subsequent episodes if required.

An adaptation of a piece professionally produced or published for any other medium (e.g. stage, television, film, novel, poem or a short story) and which has received a professional production will not be eligible. Writing pairs must both be new to audio drama.

Judging

The Imison Award will be judged by the Scriptwriters Committee of the Society of Authors. Their decision is final.

Presentation

The Imison Award will be presented at the BBC Audio Drama Awards in January 2021.
